February Public Hearings On Plan for Usage of Land

Public hearings are expected to be started in February on a comprehensive Madison County land use plan. It may be considered for adoption at the March 14 meeting of the County Board.

Prepared in revised form by the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission — which had drafted a never-adapted plan in 1968 — the new document was given tentative approval by the County Planning Commission on Thursday.

The commission instructed the SIMAPC staff to put details of the plan in written form for review on Feb. 6. Dates for hearings may be set at that time.

Maps outline future patterns of residential, industrial and commercial growth.

The study estimates that the county's quarter-million population in the 1970 census will rise to 385,000 by 1980.

District Two, including Venice, Granite City, Nanticoke and Chouteau Townships, is shown increasing from a 72,581 estimate to 89,000.

District One, Alton-Godfrey-Foster-Wood River area, 104,962 rising to 158,000.

Three, Moro - Omphgient - Olive-New Douglas-Fort Russell-Hannibal-Leef Alhambra, 12,000 rising to 27,000.

Four, Edwardsville-Pin Oak-Collinsville-Jarvis, 50,167 to 93,790.

And Five, Marine-Saline-St. Jacob-Helvetia, 11,219 to 14,000.

Residential development here is projected as increasing from a present 9,730 acres by another 3,026 acres; commercial, 463 acres, rising by an additional 216 acres; and industrial, 2,475 acres increasing by 4,675 acres, including manufacturing sites to the north between Illinois Highway Three and the Chain of Rocks Canal.

Other 1970 and 1990 population figures are shown as: District One, Alton-Godfrey-Foster-Wood River area, 104,962 rising to 158,000.

Three, Moro - Omphgient - Olive-New Douglas-Fort Russell-Hannibal-Leef Alhambra, 12,000 rising to 27,000.

Four, Edwardsville-Pin Oak-Collinsville-Jarvis, 50,167 to 93,790.

And Five, Marine-Saline-St. Jacob-Helvetia, 11,219 to 14,000.

The commission went on record Thursday as approving the concept of interceptor sewers to carry sanitary sewage in trunklines from Edwardsville and Glen Carbon to the Quad-City area for routing to Granite City treatment facilities.

It was noted that this would eliminate the need for numerous small sewage treatment plants.

The commission also verbally endorsed a current four-township sanitary sewer program in the Quad-City area. That program also is designed to connect with the Granite City treatment plant, which is being expanded from primary to secondary treatment.

Pontoon to Occupy Village Hall Feb. 1

By GARY SCHNEIDER Press-Record Staff Writer

Pontoon Beach will have a village hall after Feb. 1, the village trustees unanimously decided at a special meeting Thursday night.

The board agreed to lease the former Jim Green Construction Co. office in the 3700 block of Lake Road for one year at $450 per month.

At the end of the year, they plan to use revenue sharing funds to purchase the building at a cost of about $50,000, it was disclosed at the meeting.

The lease is to be signed this afternoon or tomorrow by Village Board President Otto Kreher and by Village Clerk Mary Sturdivant. The agreement with Illini Federal Savings & Loan Assn., holder of the property, calls for the savings and loan firm to make needed repairs to the building before it is occupied.

L. Wolf Co. of Granite City has been retained as contractor for the repairs and Carl Hackney, a village trustee, will be named sub-contractor, the Press-Record has learned.

Hackney said Friday the work will not represent a conflict of interest as he will be employed by Wolf and by Illini Federal, not by the village. He also said the village will donate to the village all money he is paid, about $125, to be used either for furniture or for additional improvements to the building.

Hackney is to drywall two damaged walls upstairs, remove a partition, repair several building which has been vacant since litigation was begun against Green's firm. Wolf is to repair the central air conditioning system which has been damaged and from which parts have been stolen.

Hackney said several village policemen have indicated they will donate off-duty hours to help prepare the building for occupancy.

The village plans to move the police department from the mobile home on Lake Drive now used for a police station into the new building as soon as possible. Also to be housed there will be offices for the village president, clerk and other officials.

The mobile home likely then will be sold to the highest bidder, Hackney said.

The new village hall houses three private offices upstairs and the downstairs area contains three offices, a receptionist's area, a lounge, two rest rooms and a large conference room which will be used for public village board meetings.

Ownership of the building remains snarled in court proceedings so purchase by the village at this time is impossible, Hackney said.

He indicated all federal revenue sharing funds received thus far, a total of $7,807, are being kept in a special account until a final determination of how to use the money is made. The $450 per month rent will be paid from the village's general fund.

The proposal to lease the building, made by Hackney, was unanimously seconded by the village board members last Thursday night and the motion passed without objection. The first month's rent also was appropriated. The board agreed to serve as a committee to determine the best space available before occupancy by the village Feb. 1.

Other business, including the purchase of a used photocopy machine from Namcoi Township for $450, was tabled as it was indicated business at the special meeting, by law, be restricted to the topic for which the meeting was called, the village hall leasing. Other business will be considered at the board's regular meeting Jan. 25 in the Long Lake Recreation Fire Department Volunteer Hall.

Madison School College Study

By MARION BARTOSIAK Press-Record Staff Writer

Madison School District administrators were instructed Thursday night to conduct a study on junior college district affiliations. The action was taken during a meeting of the Board of Education at District 12.

The district has until June 30 if it wishes to initiate action to become annexed to a junior college district or be assigned to one by the state.

Madison is not contiguous with either the Belleville Area or Lewis & Clark junior college district and will have to wait until Granite City or Collinsville form or annex to a district before the board can take action, it was reported by Fred Riddle, superintendent.

He said the Granite City School Board leans toward the Lewis & Clark district, which might establish a center in Granite City.

Collinsville leans toward the Belleville Area College, he said.

If there should not be a center in Granite City, Supt. Riddle said, he believes Madison students would prefer to join the Belleville district.

Board member Chester McManaway stressed, "We must make a decision before July 1 or we could be assigned to the East St. Louis Community College, and I don't want that. If we are, Granite City and Venice also could be assigned as members of the East St. Louis district."

The board asked for a report at its February meeting after administrators survey the opinions of students.

In other business, the board: Designated the Madison Federation of Teachers as bargaining agent during teacher contract negotiations for the 1973-74 and 1974-75 school years. In an election, the MFT received 51 votes and the Madison Classroom Teachers Association received 38, while 27 teachers abstained from voting.

Planned to meet with negotiators of Building Service Employees Local 98 this week, tentatively on Wednesday evening. Adopted a resolution setting the annual school election for April 14. Three board members are to be elected.

Expanded the number of precinct polling places from two to four. Locations are to be selected.

Heard a report from John Palchick, assistant superintendent, on the program for an in-service teacher institute to be held from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Loot from Burglary Recovered by Police

Madison and Venice police Friday morning recovered five television sets, seven radios and four speakers which had been stolen a short time before from Perdue Furniture Co., 910 Madison Ave., Madison.

The cars used by the burglars also were seized by police but the suspects escaped. It is believed two men were involved in the break-in.

A man residing near the furniture store called Madison police at 5:20 a.m. Friday and said two men were removing items from the north side door of the building and loading them into a black over blue 1968 auto.

A squad car enroute to the scene saw the auto pass on Madison Avenue and turn onto Eighth Street. The squad car turned, searched the area and found the car behind the auction barn at Seventh and State streets where it was stopped near a 1966 gold auto.

As the squad car approached, the gold car started forward into State Street. The driver apparently jumped from the auto and as the police car backed out of the way, the gold auto passed in front and crashed into the concrete wall along State Street.

At the same time, the other car drove from the scene. One

Madison police car attempted to locate the black and blue car while officers from another car searched the late model auto, finding two television sets in the back seat.

The auto was towed to the Madison Police headquarters. The ignition had been punched and the car, which apparently was stolen, had been hot wired.

While the Madison squad car was searching for the black and blue auto, a Venice police officer spotted the vehicle on Klein Street at Broadway, and followed.

The car was found abandoned a few minutes later with its engine running at Klein Street and Circle Drive. Three television sets and the other stolen items were found inside it.

The car was found to have been stolen from the home of Vanis Shrum, 1424 Eighth St., Madison, overnight. The ignition lock also had been punched out.

Police believe the burglars gained entrance to the furniture store by driving the gold car into the door glass, breaking the glass and protective bars.

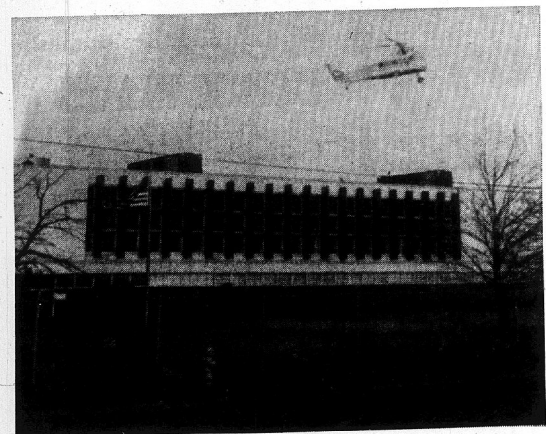

Prisoners Will Go to Scott, 7 Other Air Bases

Scott Air Force Base Hospital, Belleville, will be one of eight centers receiving returning prisoners of war when a Vietnam peace agreement is signed and they complete hospital stays in Southeast Asia, it was disclosed Saturday.

Included along with Scott are Air Force hospitals at the Keesler base, Biloxi, Miss.; Lackland, San Antonio, Tex.; March, Los Angeles; Maxwell, Montgomery, Ala.; Sheppard, Wichita Falls, Tex.; Travis, San Francisco; and Wright-Patterson, Dayton, Ohio.

Wives of POWs have learned that special teams of doctors, psychiatrists, psychologists and social workers have been trained to help rehabilitate the men.

The prisoners' reunions with their families will take place at the eight bases, where family quarters will be provided. Speculation today is that a peace agreement will be completed this weekend.

Mother of 7 Busy as SIUE Student, Worker, Teacher

Mrs. Barbara Robinson says she enjoys what she's been doing since she enrolled at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, and there's no limit to what she's been involved in, both off and on the campus.

As a senior at SIUE, Mrs. Robinson has a grade point average of 4.96 (a straight "A" is 5.00), is a full-time student, worked last quarter in the Education Division for 15 hours a week, is student teaching in Edwardsville this quarter, and is the mother of seven children.

In addition to her crowded schedule, Mrs. Robinson traveled each Friday last quarter to the McFarland Center for emotionally disturbed children in Springfield, for training sessions.

She also is a volunteer worker in classes for emotionally disturbed and severely retarded children in this Illinois area, and for many years taught piano lessons and music theory classes.

"I enrolled for my freshman year at the Carbondale campus in 1947, and did not enroll at the Edwardsville campus until three or four years ago," Mrs. Robinson said.

"At Carbondale I decided to major in music with piano as my special interest but when I transferred to the Edwardsville campus years later, I thought special education would open more doors for job opportunities," she said.

How does she get all her work done at home? "My kids do all the work at home and I couldn't do it without them — they're really great and very cooperative," Mrs. Robinson said. The Robinsons live at 710 N. Van Buren St. in Litchfield.

Four of Mrs. Robinson's seven children, ages 17, 15 and eight, still live at home. One son is in college at Eastern Illinois University and two of her other sons play in a rock band that is touring the country.

Asked how she maintained such a high grade point average, Mrs. Robinson said she guessed she was "just lucky." "I just enjoy what I'm doing," she said.

Six-Car Pileup Blocks Bridge, Seven Injured

Seven persons were injured in a six-car accident which tied up traffic on the Poplar Street Bridge a half mile west of the Tudor Avenue exit ramp at 4:45 p.m. Thursday.

The accident occurred when an auto driven by Shirley Edwards, 38, of 1842 State St., was stopped in the right lane with engine trouble. The autos of Gerald Vaudrin, Pinehurst, Ida, and Laura J. Wilmore, 24, of St. Louis, were stopped behind it.

An auto driven by Harry Osborn, 37, of Mattson, struck the car from behind. A fifth car driven by Donna L. Scanzoni, St. Louis, swerved to avoid the mishap and struck the right side of an auto driven by Norma J. Long, 1415 Seventh St., Madison. The Long and Vaudrin cars were pushed onto a median.

Mrs. Edwards was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital with neck injuries and was released following x-rays. Wilmore, five of its passengers who included four children, and Osborn were taken to St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis.

Project 31,000 Victims Of Tuberculosis in 1973

More than 31,000 Americans will discover they have tuberculosis and about 3,500 will die from TB in 1973, according to A. H. Rodde, D.D.S., a director of Lewis-Clark Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association.

Dr. Rodde offered these 1973 predictions for the nation's health, released by the National Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association:

Of the new TB cases, approximately 40% will be found in cities with population exceeding 250,000. Highest concentrations of the disease will be in areas of high density populations and low incomes. One million teenagers will take up smoking; 300,000 smoking-related deaths will occur. On the brighter, and healthier side, 2 million smokers will kick the habit.

Transportation will continue to be the chief cause of air pollution, spewing more than 100 million tons of carbon monoxide into the air we breathe. Cars, incinerators, factories and other sources will send an

"These high tolls in illness and death can and must be reduced," Dr. Rodde said. "Each of us can help by supporting the work of the local TB and respiratory disease association. If you haven't answered your Christmas Seal letter, it's too late to give more, so that Christmas Seals can do more to fight lung diseases and air pollution."

Hubert L. Brown New Postmaster At E. St. Louis

Hubert L. Brown, a long-time postal careerist, today was sworn in as Postmaster of East St. Louis. The oath of office was administered by Claude I. Bakewell, St. Louis district manager, at a ceremony in the East St. Louis Post Office witnessed by staff members, representatives of postal unions, family and friends of the new postmaster.

In announcing the appointment, Clarence B. Gels, Postmaster General of the thirteen-state Central Region said: "Brown's nomination by the National Management Selection Board and appointment by Postmaster General Klassen was done under the merit procedures of the new Postal Service. Postal workers now may aspire to any position in the service."

Brown, 64, entered the postal service in 1939 as a railway mail clerk and transferred to St. Louis in 1942. He moved through a series of promotions to his present position as chief of the East St. Louis post office upon the retirement of Arthur G. Kolb.

In addition to postmaster of the East St. Louis post office, Brown will be administratively responsible for 154 post offices in the East St. Louis section of the new Postal Service.

PUT SOME LIGHT ON THE SUBJECT
Never, never, take ANY medicine in the dark. Always turn on a light so you can see what you're doing and check to make sure that you're taking the right medication. A lot of medicine bottles are similar in design and can be easily interchanged with one another if you're not paying attention to what you're doing.

It never makes sense to take unnecessary chances and avoidable risks. In fact, it's downright foolish! Today's drugs are potent compounds, and accidentally taking the wrong one instead of the right one can lead to serious—and perhaps fatal—consequences. You can't be too careful when it comes to using medicines, and we hope you will exercise the necessary precautions.

Legislature May Act on 'Shield' Law for Newsmen

By RAY SERATI
Copley News Service
Springfield—A major attempt is expected to be made in the 78th General Assembly to pass a "shield" bill for newsmen. The legislation is expected because it is intended to protect newsmen from being forced to divulge or make public where they receive information or "tips" on news stories. This type of a law would be similar to the way conversations between lawyers and clients are now kept secret, or those between a doctor and a patient.

front because of problems arising in New Jersey and California dealing with news reporters and news sources.

Presently Illinois does not have such a "shield" law. Just what the legislature is expected to do is not yet determined. The legislation is expected to be passed by the General Assembly, but there has been a growing feeling among many of the members of the General Assembly that perhaps such a law should be passed. This has come to the forefront in recent sessions of the General Assembly.

Rep. John C. Hirschfield (R-Champaign) already has said that he plans to take the forefront in the move for the passage of the legislation. He said he expects to introduce the proposed legislation and push for its passage.

The bill that Hirschfield is to introduce now is being drafted. The House will have a full session on Jan. 20 and that is when he expects to introduce the legislation.

SIU Medical Terminal First in Downstate

A computerized medical information network that provides instant access to citations from the country's leading medical journals at the National Library of Medicine in Bethesda, Md., is now operational at the Southern Illinois University School of Medicine Library in Springfield.

The network is a service of the National Library of Medicine, and is made available to medical school libraries, hospitals, and research institutions. Each institution must provide its own terminal, which is connected by telephone to the computer in Bethesda. The SIU terminal is the first in downstate Illinois. The service will be made available to area physicians and hospitals.

MEDLINE provides on-line searching capabilities of the more than 400,000 citations from 1100 medical journals indexed at the Library. The network will have 250 terminals across the country and will be able to accept 40 on-line users simultaneously.

Transit, School Issues May Cause Walker-Daley Battle

By KEN WATSON
Copley News Service

Springfield—Gov. Dan Walker who won his office by a successful wooing of Republican-leaning Downstate voters, has quickly found that major Chicago problems have followed him down to Springfield.

In fact, after less than two weeks in office, he had to come to grips with two prime issues that are certain to fire fierce controversy in the 1973 legislative session.

These are increased state aid for Chicago's schools and mass transportation system. Both matters have been before the legislature in the past, but this is shaping - up rapidly as the showdown year.

Walker, himself a Chicagoan but already proven by the November balloting to be popular Downstate, can't avoid being on the spot.

Nor can an eventual confrontation with Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, with whom he is presently in an uneasy truce be avoided.

The new governor has already taken two preliminary positions on both issues which place him at odds with Chicagoans in general and the mayor in particular.

His first day in office, a delegation met with him in his Capitol office to ask him to play a role in negotiations between the Chicago Teachers' Union and the Chicago Board of Education.

The intent was plain—obtain a commitment from Walker that he would push for a big boost in aid from the legislature to metropolitan schools.

Walker refused to go along and suggested specifically, as well as publicly, that the wage impasse might be resolved by a major trimming of costs in the Chicago school administration.

This satisfied no one. Regardless of what agreement negotiators may reach to end the strike, and providing this is ratified by the teachers themselves at the subsequent union meeting, it is certain to be dependent to large extent on more money from the legislators.

The Chicago school cause has many friends in the legislature, especially among liberal Democrats.

But if they don't have the governor's backing, their outlook for favorable legislation is dim.

On the mass transit issue, Walker has promptly opposed preliminary proposals by Daley for a one to two cents a gallon increase in the statewide gasoline tax, with the extra money to be distributed not only to Chicago's Transit Authority (CTA) but to bus systems in Downstate cities as well.

Specific legislation to carry out the Daley proposals is being drafted and will be backed by Chicago Democratic powers in the House and Senate.

But Downstate lawmakers have been reluctant in the past to subsidize the CTA, especially via any statewide hike in the gas tax.

Here again, without the governor's backing, such legislation would appear doomed.

But the two issues are going to mean early and prolonged headaches for Chicagoan Dan Walker.

Easter Sunday Concert To Benefit Cathedral

Area residents are being offered a unique experience for the first time at 4 p.m. Easter Sunday, April 22, in Powell Symphony Hall, when a concert for the benefit of the Washington National Cathedral will be sponsored by the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra and the Eastern Missouri Committee of the National Cathedral Association. It was announced today by Mrs. Morton D. May, chairman of the benefit committee.

Walter Susskind, music director and conductor of the orchestra, will conduct Johann Sebastian Bach's Passion According to St. John.

Proceeds of the benefit will help complete the west front of the National Cathedral in Washington, D. C. The Gothic structure, started in 1897, when completed, will be the sixth largest cathedral in the world. The completed nave will be 167 feet in length to coincide with the bicentennial celebration of the United States.

The cathedral is ecumenical, serving all races, creeds and religious beliefs as a house of prayer for all people.

Many persons have for years shown an interest and concern for the completion of the building. The cathedral has no congregation of its own, receives no church or governmental funds for its building and maintenance. Support comes from gifts of friends everywhere.

Cougar Cagers Romp Over Chicago Circle by 92-77

Ed McQuillan, first year coach of the University of Illinois, Chicago Circle basketball team, could only shake his head in disbelief. His team had just lost, 92-77, to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville in the Cougar gym Saturday night.

Said McQuillan, still in a semi state of shock: "How can you beat a team which shot and made its first 10 attempts from the floor?" He was referring to the Cougars' sensational shooting opening the second half, when, trailing 32-34 at the intermission, Coach Jim Dudley's SIUE players made their first 10 shots.

Still shaking his head, McQuillan asked: "What did Southern shoot from the floor in the second half?" When told the Cougar marksmen had made 23 of 27 field goal attempts for an almost unbelievable 85.5 average, the U. of I. coach replied: "I thought it was even better than that."

The victory gives the Cougars, who face another stiff test Wednesday night at Edwardsville High when the University of Missouri, St. Louis Rivermen come calling, a 7-6 record. The loss dropped the Chikas to 4-8, including a three-point defeat Friday to the Rivermen.

What made McQuillan's comment at SIUE's field goal accuracy so hard for him to believe was the fact that in 11 games prior to Circle's game Saturday with the Cougars, the Chikas' defense had permitted only an average of 64 points by their opponents.

Keying on Tony Johnson and Denny Thronburg, the Cougars' top two scorers this season, Circle held the duo well below their averages, but failed to stop the 6-6 senior from Moline, Jerry Carlson, who poured in 34 points, 24 of which came in the big 60-point SIUE second half blitz.

In the second half, Carlson hit on seven of eight field goal attempts and made 10-of-11 free throws. Thronburg, "Butch" Ferree, sophomore ace from Highland, Ind., who made 18 points for the Cougars, was almost as hot in the final 20 minutes. He was good on five-out-of-six from the floor and poured in four straight free throws.

Dudley was extremely happy with Carlson's performance. "He was something, wasn't he?" he said immediately after the game, adding: "He's shown signs of this at least eight times this season, but tonight he put it all together, didn't he, and it wasn't a question."

While the Chikas held Johnson and Thronburg's point to almost down they certainly didn't hurt the pair's shooting average. Johnson made six of eight field goal attempts, while Thronburg was 5-for-8. However, Johnson's consecutive free throw shooting streak ended at 26 as he missed his only chance late in the game.

Again it was Leon Wright, 6-6 forward from Chicago, who paced the Cougars in the rebounding department with 10. In addition, Wright added nine key points as SIUE again, for the seventh straight game, had four players in double figures: Carlson (34), Ferree (18), Johnson (12) and Thronburg (11).

In an earlier meeting between the Cougars and Chikas, SIUE won, 78-71, at Chicago just before Christmas.

Circle's offense was also well-balanced, with four players hitting for 12 points: Jim McElroy, Monte Roberts, Gary Wilson and Chuck Lambert.

Both teams shot sensationally well at the Free-throw line, particularly in the second half: Circle hit on 13-of-14, while SIUE made 14-of-16. The Cougars made 20-of-24 charity tosses for the entire game, while Circle hit 22-of-30.

The Cougars have their work cut out for them this week. In addition to playing UMSL Wednesday, they'll also host Purdue University of Indianapolis Friday, and Saturday night take on Northeastern Illinois University of Chicago. All three games will be at Edwardsville High gym starting at 8 p.m.

Dudley's charges will be seeking revenge against Northeastern. In the two teams' first meeting ever, just before Christmas in Chicago, Northeastern clobbered the Cougars 115-85. However, last week Circle beat Northeastern by four points.

READY FOR ACTION, the Warrior varsity, junior varsity and sophomore wrestlers carefully watched the mat action as each awaited his match during the meet against Collinsville in the Granite

57-0 Mat Win Here

Coach William Schmitt's Granite City High School Wrestlers almost repeated a 59-0 romp over Collinsville, occurring a year ago, when they earned a 57-0 shutout here Friday.

The win kept the Warriors' dual meet victory streak alive at 37, including 16 this season.

Pins were achieved by Pat McMillan (88 pounds) in 47 seconds, Kerry Johnson (119) in 1:31, Dan Heath (132) in 4:16, Brian Wilson (155) in 55 seconds, Jack Schmitt (167) in 1:31, and Heavyweight John McMillon, who trailed 1-10 after two near-pins and then gained a reversal and pinned his opponent at the 3:30 mark.

John Niebur (112) won decisively, 15-2, over Kahok Mark Milster, who had been undefeated at that weight.

Other GCHS winners by decisions were Phil Lapinski (105) 18-2, Dennis Ragan (126) 15-3, Dave Rushing (138) 6-3, Ken Nolan (145) 7-2 and John Avedisian (185) 5-0.

Granite City junior varsity grapplers blanked Collinsville 61-0, with pins recorded by Woody Halbrook (38), Don Heath (126), Terry Johnson (132), Chester Fetter (138), James Barker (185) and Heavyweight Larry Pope.

Rudy Pole (112), Rick Trachwick (155) and Dave Head (167) won on forfeits.

Bryan Gaines (145) gained a superior decision and Eric Schmitt (119) won a regular decision.

Warrior sophomores prevailed, 56-7.

Warriors Bow to Tigers, Flyers; Six Losses in Row

The Granite City High School cagers lost their fifth and sixth straight basketball games at home this weekend, losing Friday to Edwardsville 58-36 and Saturday to East St. Louis 67-36.

"It is disappointing to me as a coach to have our team lose and I know it is disappointing to our fans, local Warrior Coach Don Deterding said, "but it is really disappointing to our players."

"We knew we were not in a shooting club this year and would be facing some tough defensive teams but our players are a lot better than the past few games have demonstrated."

"We are fighting a mental attitude more than a physical problem. Our fellows are afraid to shoot for fear they will miss. Shooting has to be instinctive. Every time you touch the ball you must know it will hit. This is the hardest problem to correct a coach has. You can correct ball handling mistakes with practice but their is no magic word to get the team in a winning frame of mind. What we need is someone to catch fire to bring us up to the point where we stop our negative thinking."

Tom Vrenick, who scored 12 points Friday against Edwardsville, was the only GCHS player to garner double figures in both games.

Warriors scoring on Fridays were Mike Martinez 5, Dave

City High School gymnasium annex. The varsity team blanked the Kahoks 57-0, the JV's earned a 61-0 shutout and the sophomores were successful 56-7.

Gauen and Gene Logas 2.

On Saturday against East St. Louis Warriors scoring were Logas 8, Vrenick 6, Don Lloyd 4, Gauen 3, Champion and Steve Melzer 2 and Greg Gauen 1.

The quarter scores Friday favored the Tigers 18-10, 36-20 and 42-28, and Edwardsville outpointed GCHS in the final quarter 17-5.

From the floor the Warriors shot 15 in 56 tries for a 27% average and Edwardsville went 23 out of 49 for 47%.

In charity tosses the Warriors hit on six out of 14 attempts and the Tigers sank 15 of 20 tosses. In turnovers it was GCHS 18 and Tigers 42.

The Edwardsville JV's won 68-43 with Greg Gauen the local top point-maker with 13.

The East St. Louis Flyers played a tight zone and forced the Warriors to shoot from 18 to 20 feet out.

The Flyers led after the quarters 18-9, 29-21, and 43-31, out scoring the Warriors in the final quarter 19-5.

GCHS hit 17 in 51 field goal attempts for a 33% average and the Flyers made 27 of 52 shots for 49%.

The Warriors made two and the Flyers 13. In turnovers it was GCHS 12 and East St. Louis 22.

"They really hurt us on the backboards as everything they missed they tipped in," Deterding commented.

Warriors scoring on Fridays were Mike Martinez 5, Dave

Don Lloyd led the JV Warriors to a 33-40 victory.

Venice Cagers Undefeated, Defeat Warden, St. Henry

The Venice High School basketball Red Devils continued their undefeated cage record as they downed Warden 91-60 on the road Friday and burned Belleville St. Henry 68-42 at home Saturday.

"We needed to play this week-end to keep ourselves together since we have only played once since the Christmas tourney," Coach Bill Ohlendorf said. "We are playing in the Dupo Tourney tonight."

At Warden Friday the Devils increased their lead at the end of each quarter 18-12, 42-26 and 74-44.

Although Ron Henry, the Devils' 6-5 center, was top point maker with 26 6-1 junior J. B.

Harmon got a chance to play and racked up 24 points.

Adding to Warden's misery was Ron Taylor with 21 points, Ray Mosby 12, Jim Simmons 8 and Tony Siltion 3. Warden's Mike Wetzel tagged 24 points.

It was Venice over Warden in field goals 42-24, but from the charity line it was Warden 12-7.

At home Saturday Venice took the lead over St. Henry's and held it again every quarter 20-4, 30-11 and 52-19. In the final quarter St. Henry's outscored the Devils 22-16.

The Venice led from the floor 32-17, but from the charity line it was St. Henry's 8-4.

Henry was again high point scorer with 27, followed by Harmon's 18. Other Devils scoring were Ray Mosby 6, Wiley and Simmons 5, Archie Johnson 3 and Tony Taylor and Siltion 2.

The victory gave Venice a 13-0 record and, with the Collinsville Kahoks, are the only teams undefeated this season.

The Devils will play Columbia in the Dupo tourney at 8:30 p.m. today. Venice played Columbia Nov. 28, the opening game of the season, and won 69-53.

"There are four teams that are all pretty good and have made some real improvements since the season started. I'm talking about Madison, Lovejoy, Carmi and Roxana," Ohlendorf commented.

"We are going down tonight with the intention of winning the tournament. We won in 1971, but last year in the final game we lost to Lovejoy."

Some Reforms Likely in Way State Legislation Is Handled

By AL MANNING
Copley News Service

Springfield—Gov. Dan Walker this month told the people of Illinois that the state has "a crisis of lost faith in our government."

Three days later, the members of the Illinois House of Representatives proved his assessment correct when some Republicans accused W. Robert Blair of doublecrossing them on his way to winning re-election as speaker of the House.

If lawmakers cannot believe one another, how can they expect the public to believe them?

In his inaugural address, Walker said:

"For all of your differences, what you (the public) had to say about government was disturbingly similar. You simply did not believe government was worth your trust."

"If our citizens continue to lose their sense of faith, democracy for if we no longer believe that the people we choose can govern us, we are really saying that we no longer believe in our own capacity for self-government."

Every statewide public officeholder was at the ceremony. If they took the criticism personally, it is understandable why they were riled at the scattershot approach.

But, significantly, the inauguration was not held before a joint session of the General Assembly.

The legislative branch has received increasing criticism since the November election, when the talk of pay raises for public officials began. The public's opinion of that body did not increase as it learned of wheeling and dealing in provincial closed-door, smoke-filled rooms.

However, there is more substance to the legislative situation than just the personality conflicts.

Although Blair said he could not deliver on his promise to let Rep. Henry Hyde name an assistant majority leader, there is no indication that promises of certain reforms will not be met. And that is where the public is most likely to benefit the most from the situation.

The reforms are:—The Speaker will not have a direct voice in the determination of which bills are referred to which committees. As in the Senate, there will be a committee recommendation. It shall be called for third reading within a prescribed period of time, such as two weeks. Thus, the House speaker would not have absolute discretion to withhold a bill.

—No bill will be called without 24 hours' notice to members.

Citizens who have attempted to electively follow certain reform legislation such as abortion, parochial school aid or the equal amendment have not understood how these changes can help their lobbying efforts and thus assist them in governing themselves.

But the reforms are only one development to emerge from the tangle.

The tactics used by Hyde supporters before supporting Blair were not looked upon with favor by political veterans. Despite his personal popularity, Hyde was defeated in the GOP March primary and then again in November caucus.

The second change came only because of a quirk in the reapportionment law which permitted former State Rep. Peter Miller to give up his seat and let Hyde run in his place.

Since Hyde was the behind-the-scenes power broker, some representatives were skeptical of Hyde's speakership candidacy.

'Ring Around 'Moon'
At SIUE This Week

"Ring Round the Moon" will be presented at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday, by the University Theater at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. There will be a matinee at 1:30 Thursday. Admission is free.

In the play Jean Anouilh has invented a fable about twin brothers—Frederic, who is shy and sensitive, and Hugo, heartless and aggressive. Will Shaw of Belleville portrays both Frederic and Hugo.

Frederic is in love with Diane, a hussy who is in love with Hugo. To save Frederic from an unhappy marriage, Hugo tries to distract him by bringing Isabelle to a ball. She is a beautiful dancer who masquerades as a mysterious personage and becomes the triumph of the occasion. Not only does she break up all the cynical romances that were going on before her arrival, she loses her own heart as well.

Tracey Dunn of Edwardsville is cast as Diane. Linda Sparks, Collinsville, plays the dancer.

Some Buildings In County to Be Demolished Later

Steps to demolish dilapidated buildings in unincorporated areas of the county were recommended by Alton May of Alton, chairman of the land use committee of the Madison County Board, at the board's meeting last week.

He told the board that some ground work will be needed before any action can be taken, but that the members should consider future action concerning their own districts.

May said that some county-owned buildings, including some acquired through delinquent taxes, also are in poor condition, according to a survey by his committee, and that funds not now budgeted will be required for future action.

The board also was told that the county's new data processing department has issued payroll checks this month for the first time for all but employees of the county treasurer, clerk and recorder of deeds.

In other business the board: Approved the resignation of Bruce O. Fiegenbaum as county supervisor of maps and plats, effective Feb. 28.

Received confirmation from the state on a salary of $21,200 plus expense allowance of $1,700 for Lee Schleimer, county superintendent of highways.

Approved extension of an existing private road in Fairmont Addition No. 2.

Received average daily attendance reports of 58 at the county shelter care center and 92 at the county nursing home during December.

Approved advertisements for bids for construction of a retaining wall in the parking lot at the rear of the county jail, for a truck pickup chassis for the animal shelter and for gasoline and oil for the sheriff's department.

Awarded a contract to R. C. Schaffel, Co. of Alton, to certify public accounts, to conduct the annual outside county audit for the year ending Nov. 30, 1972, at a cost not to exceed $16,000.

shooting over a highway, 17 for hunting on a controlled hunting area without a permit, 13 for hunting during a closed season and 10 for hunting before or after the proper shooting hours.

There were eight arrests for possession of a hen pheasant, and each for having over the daily limit, being an accessory to a violation, hunting in a restricted area and having fire arms in a conservation area.

Five arrests each were made for shining animals while in possession of firearms and having a boat in a sub-impoundment. There were an additional 24 miscellaneous arrests listed.

Five of the snowmobile violations were for operating a snowmobile on a highway. Four were for snowmobiling in a restricted area and two for unregistered snowmobiles.

Unapproved life saving devices accounted for six of the eight boating infractions. The other two citations were for an unapproved fire extinguisher and for not displaying registration numbers.

The five fish violations all stemmed from pollution charges. The one park infraction was for operating a vehicle in a restricted area, and the single forestry arrest was for no timber buyers license.

City Ok's Funds for Traffic Safety

Appropriations of motor fuel tax funds totaling $25,000 were approved by the city last week, enabling improvements at five of the city's major intersections under the state-federal traffic safety program.

The council approved a $25,000 appropriation as the city's share of intersection improvements at Nameki and Johnson roads, and an appropriation of $100,000 as the city share of improving traffic controls on Madison Avenue at 27th, 23rd and 20th streets and Niedringhaus Avenue.

Planning for the projects is underway by Harland Bartholomew & Associates, St. Louis professional engineers, who have notified the city that planning work is being expedited in an effort to meet July 1 deadlines for obtaining federal grants.

Federal aid for the work is available under the government's Traffic Operation Program to improve the Capacity and Safety (Topics) of city streets.

Cost of the Nameki-Johnson Road improvement is estimated at $83,500 and the four Madison Avenue intersection improvements have been estimated at $185,000.

Harold Thurmond, a representative of the engineering firm, has informed the council that engineering work for the Nameki-Johnson project will cost about $17,500 and engineering for the Madison Avenue improvements will cost approximately $22,400, bringing the total estimated cost of all work to $313,700.

The council also approved last week a request by the City of Granite City for Post 51 for permission to erect a plaque on the city hall lawn listing the names of the dead in World Wars I and II.

Conkovich said in a letter to the council that erection of the 30 by 36-inch bronze plaque planned in Memorial Day ceremonies.

The Illinois State Department of Revenue notified the city of an allocation of $62,288 in sales tax for the month of October.

Proposed New Boundary Lines for Granite City Schools

Elementary Grade Reorganization Called Aid to State Guidelines

Efforts to desegregate Illinois school districts have met with varying degrees of success since guidelines were filed by state school superintendent Michael J. Bakalis in November 1971. One district—Park Forest 163—has become a model in the development and implementation of a plan, according to state education officials.

Park Forest, located 30 miles south of Chicago, is a predominantly white collar, middle income and professional community. It was incorporated in 1949 as one of the nation's first planned communities after World War II.

Residential integration took place starting in 1955 with little public conflict because the educational and income levels of the incoming families were comparable to that of existing residents.

Segregation was not a problem in the junior and senior high schools because their attendance boundaries reflected housing patterns. However, the problem of segregation was created in the elementary schools due to a swift and dramatic population shift in one area of District 163—Beacon Hill.

Beacon Hill, on the western boundary of Park Forest, is actually in the community of Chicago Heights but is part of the Park Forest school district. In 1969, there were 268 low income homes built in Beacon Hill, attracting 2,000 new residents. Most were welfare families.

By 1971, Beacon Hill School had 546 of the 800 black children in the district's elementary and junior high schools. Segregation of the elementary schools came about rapidly, due to the influx of new residents. However, such a tradition did not exist in the community and in September 1971 the school board voted to develop plans for desegregation of District 163.

The board named a 46-member citizen advisory committee, geographically representative, with ethnic participation involving parents, teachers and administrators. A wide range of views was sought, with at least three alternative plans to be submitted by April 1.

Adhering to state guidelines, the group broadened citizen participation with five study teams. Questionnaires were sent to faculty members to gain input. Teams visited other districts, and committee members spoke to 42 community organizations to explain their efforts and gather further information.

After the report was made, the board held open hearings in nine grade schools, with administrators and committee members present to respond to public questioning.

On April 20, the board adopted a voluntary magnet plan with the option of going to a mandatory grade reorganization system if there were insufficient volunteers by May 31, 1972. The magnet plan called for children from throughout the district to transfer to a single school on a voluntary basis, reducing imbalance in all schools.

Not enough volunteered. On June 5, the school board instituted the alternate plan, with the nine schools redesignated as primary and intermediate grade centers; four became centers for grades 1-3 and the remaining five for grades 4-6.

Preparations were made throughout the summer for efficient transition on Aug. 20. In-service training sessions, workshops and community meetings were held and a computer was used to aid in pupil assignment.

The plan received general support. A group did file an action to block the plan, but the suit was denied.

Students from five of nine primary white areas attend Beacon Hill School; about 60% of the blacks previously attending Beacon Hill now go to other schools.

Principals were given the choice of either primary or intermediate centers, depending on their background, experience and interest. Teachers were assigned to schools based on the same criteria and 75% of the teachers moved to a different school from the one they had taught in the previous year.

The plan goes far beyond just meeting state guidelines. As one school board member said, "We probably would have gone to grade reorganization eventually, not because of desegregation but because of the inherent educational value."

The strength of the system, a local school official said, is that it "allows us to concentrate our resources where they can best be used. Curriculum, personnel, materials and expenditures can be geared to the particular grade center."

"In other words, instead of a grade three class at nine different elementary schools, we now have just four at the primary centers. It's more efficient and makes more sense."

It is too early to speculate on the ultimate educational success of Park Forest's desegregation plan, Bakalis says, but notes that according to one primary grade center principal, all indications are good.

"We can see that it is working just by the interaction of the children," said Fred Segner, principal of Beacon Hill. "They are working together, learning together and playing together. Many of the upper grade children remain after school to play, even if it means walking home."

"Park Forest has demonstrated what can be done when people get together and work together," Bakalis comments.

"The board exhibited a deep sense of responsibility and involved the total community in the development of a plan. Together, they explored what could be done, rather than catalog what could not be done."

Scope of Pollution Rules for Steel Industry Can End Its Profits and Ability to Compete

All Americans are concerned about improving environmental quality; not all are aware of the economics involved in achieving it, according to W. R. Boyer, president of Republic Steel Corporation and chairman of the American Iron and Steel Institute's Public Affairs Committee on Environment.

He has attempted to provide a better understanding of the issue. Following is the text of an interview by AIST editors:

AIST: President Nixon recently expressed grave concern about the economic implications of the environmental legislation that will sharply escalate government and industry spending.

He called it inflationary and warned that it would create pressure for higher taxes. What are your thoughts on this matter?

BOYER: I share the President's concern. An improved environment is a highly desirable goal to which all of us should be committed.

It will be tragic if we go about it in a way that damages our economy and makes achievement of other desirable goals impossible.

We should try to strike a balance between the effects of the environmental goals the government is seeking and the effects of new environmental legislation on the costs of goods and services, on employment and on our competitive position in international trade.

Environmental needs and economic growth should be regarded as interdependent. Economic growth gives us the resources for fighting pollution. Without it, we will be unable to improve the environment and unable to achieve full employment for a growing labor force.

AIST: How much is the steel industry spending for a cleaner environment?

BOYER: Nearly a million dollars a day.

In 1971, steel companies placed in operation about $162 million worth of new air and water quality control facilities—boosting capital spending for these purposes since 1951 to $1.18 billion.

In addition, at the end of 1971, steel companies were spending almost $142 million a year just to keep existing air and water facilities operating.

This is about 12% of the original construction costs. This does not include environmental research or special recycling projects.

When the figures are in for 1972, they will be higher. A survey conducted early last year indicated that domestic mills had authorized an additional $200 million for air and water quality control facilities scheduled to become operative in 1972 and later years.

This planned spending will raise the industry's total for environmental expenditures since 1951 to $1.5 billion.

This is one of the highest private commitments to the national effort to improve air and water quality.

We are proud of our environmental accomplishments. Progress is evident everywhere in the industry.

But there still remain areas that need attention. These are areas where there's no present technology for dealing satisfactorily with emissions.

Take coke plants, for example. You put coal in the top of the oven and push coke out the side. No one has been able to come up with a system to fully control the emission, regardless of the investment.

One of our biggest problems is changing and conflicting standards.

Once a standard has been set, we can plan our course of action to reach this goal.

If the standard is changed while we're making costly equipment improvements, it's very difficult and often economically unfeasible to change again.

We are concerned about our ability to go on meeting these standards, which are connected with these changing standards that are sometimes unnecessarily restrictive.

If you have a reasonably clean industrial river, whose environs make it highly unlikely that people would want to use it for recreational purposes, why go to the staggering cost of making it 100% pure?

It makes no economic sense at all.

AIST: Have you determined the magnitude of those costs?

BOYER: Yes.

American Iron and Steel Institute estimates that the industry would have to spend a minimum of $3.5 billion for the period 1972-1976 to meet a rigid application of current federal standards.

This outlay, plus the Institute's estimate of more than $400 million in annual operating and maintenance costs, would be more than the industry earned from 1957 through 1971.

Findings in a recent study—conducted by the management consultant firm of Booz, Allen and Hamilton for the President's Council on Environmental Quality and the Environmental Protection Agency—largely support the steel industry's contention that it would experience financial hardship in meeting the cost of presently projected environmental control requirements through 1976.

Moreover, Booz, Allen says that the industry will be able to fully finance pollution control expenditures of this magnitude only if it experiences a combination of circumstances that steelmen feel is extremely unlikely.

For example, we have to realize no cost increases from the Occupational Safety and Health Act or from increases in taxes of any kind or for Social Security, medical care or private pension benefits.

Also, we would be able to increase prices by 4.3% per year during the next four years.

Then we would have to keep all dividends at 1972 dollar amounts and use all internally available funds for normal facility replacement and pollution control projects only—no expansion outlays or no outlays to replace facilities that might have to be shut down because of environmental control regulations.

Also, the industry would have to borrow an additional $600 million to get added capital which Booz, Allen says would put the steel industry at or near its borrowing limit.

The report adds the assumption that the steel industry would be able to increase its net income from $566 million in 1971 to $836 million in 1972 and to $1,222 million by 1975—more than double the 1971 level.

AIST: What will be the consequences if this set of circumstances does not materialize and yet the industry is compelled to try to meet the massive financial requirements?

BOYER: I can think of several obvious and painful consequences.

We will be unable to continue to invest in the new steelmaking technology necessary to keep our industry competitive internationally.

Profits will suffer and tax revenues from the industry will be reduced.

Some companies simply will be forced to shut down facilities, which will result in loss of jobs.

All of us want the cleanest environment we can have within the bounds of economic reality.

However, we must be careful not to put any segment of our nation's industry in an untenable competitive position.

In these days of intense domestic and foreign competition, all of us must balance that a dollar will do for us and what priority should be given.

AIST: What do you think should be done?

BOYER: Economic considerations should continue to be included among the factors to be weighed in making environmental decisions.

This policy should be stated or implied in all federal activities concerning the environment, including existing and proposed legislation, standards and procedures.

Let's set soundly conceived environmental goals and standards that don't present the industry and others with moving targets that quickly become obsolete for all practical purposes, chain us to a situation where we stay in business largely to fight pollution and little else.

Then, too, we need some innovative and creative means for financing these huge environmental outlays.

Perhaps if we were given appropriate tax incentives or low-interest environmental loans with repayment out of future earnings, we'd have a much better chance to find expenditures and remain economically viable.

I think steps such as these should be considered if all industry, including steel, is to remain competitive and responsible to the nation's needs.

'Duck' Award Presented By Corps of Engineers

Marking a symbolic change in the status of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the Upper Mississippi River Conservation Committee has presented its coveted Award of Merit (and a hand-carved wooden duck) to Robert C. "Pete" Long, chief, River Stabilization Branch, U.S. Army Engineer District, St. Louis.

The change is indicative of the corps' mission to protect and preserve the environment. Long was given the award at the committee's 29th annual meeting in Minneapolis, Minn., by chairman Jerome Kluhn.

The Upper Mississippi River Conservation group represents state conservation departments from Missouri, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa. His nomination for the award was submitted by John W. Roberts, biologist, and William Diefenbach, resource specialist, members of the Missouri Conservation Commission.

"The true significance of the award," according to Col. Guy E. Jester, St. Louis district engineer, "is that the corps, long criticized for its unconcerned attitude toward conservation and environment, has made giant strides in this field. Pete's award is certainly a landmark in recognition of the spirit of cooperation that exists between the St. Louis district and conservation agencies."

It was pointed out in the nomination that Long is responsible for construction and design to attain and maintain a nine-foot navigation channel along a 200-mile stretch of the Mississippi River between the mouth of the Ohio and the Missouri River.

In this capacity, he has inaugurated and fostered coordination between the corps and conservation agencies and groups in several ways.

Almost five years ago, a model study of the prototype reach of the river was initiated by the corps' Waterways Experiment Station. Long invited the Missouri Conservation Commission to participate in the study with a view toward making recommendations in the interest of fish and wildlife.

Through this joint effort, new dike structures were designed to assure preservation of vital habitat for fish propagation and proliferation.

More recently, working on the theory that the mainstream river bed is non-productive for fish habitat, a study was launched to determine the importance of secondary channels and sloughs.

Twenty-five areas were selected for intensive study. A lected for intensive study. A lected for intensive study. A lected for intensive study.

A contract has been awarded to the Missouri Conservation Commission to evaluate results and make further recommendations. In addition, as construction proceeds, Long continues to review future construction

SIUE Seeks to Reach Those Who Want Higher Education

"There are people not being reached by higher education who have an interest or a need," says John Ellsworth of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. "This University is exploring possibilities to reach these people on their terms."

The Nursing Division and the Dental Medicine are developing continuing education programs that will be taken to nurses and dentists throughout Illinois, and other academic units also are exploring new delivery systems.

Some students in the already established programs have earned master's degrees from SIUE without ever having set foot on campus, and that number is increasing every year. About 1,000 students are enrolled in off-campus degree programs now; by 1980 Ellsworth sees the possibility that one-third of SIUE's graduates will never have set foot on the campus.

The off-campus programs will mean increased educational opportunities without huge outlays for more buildings, something Ellsworth said is significant during years of decreasing funding for higher education from states and the federal government. SIUE's off-campus graduate programs are self-sustaining, therefore needing no state or federal appropriations.

"There also are difficult questions facing us in regard to undergraduate education," Ellsworth said. "People interested in fields like social work, mental health and law enforcement will want coursework that covers a broad range of subjects; it's hard to plan, though, for 18-year-old freshmen who don't know what they want to major in but want help from the University in being as assured of a job when they graduate."

All the intangibles make the drafting of a five-year plan "a complex, detailed procedure," Ellsworth said. "You've tried to plan your own life five years in advance, you know how difficult something like this is. The plan is being reviewed at least once a year—it won't be set in concrete."

Ellsworth said opinion surveys indicate many persons employed full-time are interested in getting more education but want classes in an off-campus location on weekends. SIUE is in the forefront of universities trying to meet that kind of demand. The University has off-campus graduate programs with intensive weekend instruction in business administration at Military Airport Command bases throughout the United States and in the Azores; in political science at locations in Washington D.C. and St. Louis; and in counselor education at Scott Air Force Base near Belleville.

Ellsworth said, "We have to ask what we can do to meet the needs of these people."

"Our clientele in on-campus and off-campus programs is shifting more toward people already involved in public service," Ellsworth said. "We have to ask what we can do to meet the needs of these people."

For example, Ellsworth said, for many years the SIUE master's degree program in political science was aimed largely at preparing students to go on for a Ph.D. Today, with many persons already employed in governmental agencies entering SIUE to sharpen their job skills, it is necessary to develop coursework that students can adapt to their jobs.

"There also seems to be a pattern of professionals dropping back into universities to keep up with the rapid social change occurring everywhere," Ellsworth said. "In some disciplines like chemistry or physics, knowledge can be obsolete in five years."

"Even in my discipline, political science, Ph.D. programs today are hardly recognizable compared with the programs 10 years ago. That's because the world today is so different from 10 years ago."

Ellsworth said opinion surveys indicate many persons employed full-time are interested in getting more education but want classes in an off-campus location on weekends. SIUE is in the forefront of universities trying to meet that kind of demand. SIUE Plans Experience in Field for Teacher Students

To help students learn what teaching is about before they decide to become teachers, the secondary education department of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is establishing a course stressing field experience for all students. The course will be a thinking of teaching in junior or senior high schools.

Donald Madison, chairman of the SIUE secondary education department, said the main purpose of the course will be to assist students in making career decisions.

"Students enrolling in the course will spend a certain number of clock hours in the field at junior and senior high schools and at elementary schools and special education centers," Madison said.

"We want to expose University students to the teaching process in their freshman or sophomore year before they have to declare a major. Waiting until a student is doing his student teaching as a last-quarter senior is too late."

Madison said although there is talk of an oversupply of teachers, the course will not be used to actively discourage SIUE students from entering the teaching profession.

"We'll certainly mention the problem areas of employment so students are aware, but we view this course essentially as a self-screening device," Madison said.

The course will not be offered until the start of spring quarter (March 26), but Madison said students should start thinking now about the course. It will be titled "Introduction to Secondary Education," and though it currently is designated as experimental, Madison said it is expected the course eventually will be required of students at SIUE before they are admitted into the secondary education curriculum. A similar course already is required by the University's elementary education department.

Grading in the course will be on a pass/no pass basis, with no letter grades given. The course probably will not be offered during the summer quarter because of its ties to public schools, which generally are not in session the entire summer, Madison said.

Field experiences in the course will include tutoring elementary, junior high and senior high school students; observing classes in public schools; assisting with a school activity; attending board of education and faculty meetings; interviewing school administrators and lunchroom duty.

The course also will include some seminars at the Edwardsville campus, such as how public schools are administered and financed; legal responsibilities of teachers; certification requirements for teachers; and teaching as a profession.

We have a "hot" Cannon towel promotion starting this Thursday. Watch the paper for the complete details. Towels are always in demand, and there is no better name in towels than "Cannon."

Frozen "buffet" dinners are becoming more and more attractive as items to aid the thrifty housewife. They used to be a "luxury" but with today's meat conditions, they have become a bargain. Incidentally, those frozen "toast-ers" sandwiches at 12 for $1.00 fall into the bargain class as well.

We have had "repeats" on our breaded cod. Everyone knows that 10-cent fish is a real bargain today. If you need help in selecting meat that will fit your budget, talk to us or any of our nine friendly meat men. They will be happy to discuss the problem with you. After all, what good is a "butcher" if you can't talk to him? Did you ever try talking to a "butcher"? Schermer's still have old fashioned friendly butchers selling red meat out of a service counter; a service which we don't intend to change.

AIRMAN AND MRS. RICHARD MCCUNNEY. They were married in an afternoon ceremony at Tri-City Park Tabernacle by the Rev. John Polizzi. She is the former Deborah Nagel, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Nagel, 2673 East 23rd St.

Deborah Nagel Becomes Mrs. Richard McCunney

Mrs. Deborah Nagel and Airman Richard McCunney, U. S. Air Force, exchanged wedding vows in an afternoon ceremony Jan. 13 at Tri-City Park Tabernacle Church, Clark Street and Buenger Ave.

The Rev. John Polizzi performed the double-ring ceremony at 1 o'clock.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white silk organza gown with a fitted bodice of sheer striped fabric designed with a high neckline and bishop sleeves accented with matching trim. Venice lace with white satin insertion ribbon edged the collar, defined the square sheer yoke and lined the Empire waistline.

The hem of the slightly gathered skirt was bordered with a wide band of lace, as was the detachable chapel length train.

She wore an elbow-length veil secured with a headpiece created of floral lace etched with seed pearls and centered with a large rhinestone. The bridal bouquet was an arrangement of white peonies interspersed with small blue flowers.

Miss Marilyn Martin, a niece of the bride, wore a pale blue chiffon print dress embossed with tiny white and rose colored flowers. Fashioned with a scoop neckline, her frock featured Queen Anne sleeves and was enhanced with rows of Venice lace to mark the high rise waistline. She held a colonial bouquet similar to the bride's.

The groom chose his brother, William McCunney, to serve as his best man.

Mrs. Nagel was attired in a pale blue silk shantung jacket dress featuring a jewel neckline trimmed with bugle beads and sequins.

The groom's mother chose a beige lace dress with long fitted sleeves and an A-line skirt.

A reception was given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Moat, an uncle and aunt of the groom, following the service.

A graduate of Granite City High School, the former Miss Nagel formerly was employed as a clerk typist for the federal government in a St. Louis office.

Airman McCunney graduated from Madison High School and presently is stationed at Keesler AFB in Biloxi, Miss. The newlywed couple are residing in Biloxi.

Mrs. Greenwald to Lead Mother's March

Mrs. Frank (Margie) Greenwald, 2727 Grand Ave., will lead the traditional "Mother's March" against birth defects in the 1973 March of Dimes campaign, it was announced today by Mrs. Glen Chaboude, chairman of the Granite City March of Dimes Committee.

The door-to-door drive for funds will take place in Granite City and suburban areas on Sunday.

The "march" leader is the wife of Second Ward Alderman Frank Greenwald. She has participated in drives for the Cancer Crusade and Heart Association, as well as taking an active part in previous March of Dimes campaigns. She is a member of Sacred Heart Church and Sacred Heart Altar Society and is a past officer of the Daughters of Isabella.

Mr. and Mrs. Greenwald are the parents of three sons, Frank Jr., who is 14 and attends Coolidge Junior High School; Mark, 15, a student at Granite City High School; and James, 20, who is enrolled at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Spring and Summer Are Just Around the Corner for Busy Brides-to-Be BRIDAL COUPLE as portrayed by Mary Lehne and Jerry Duncan. Delicate Venice lace, a slightly lower neckline and a full mantilla veil create the summery bridal gown modeled by Miss Lehne at the Welcome Wagon reception for brides-elect and their mothers. She carries a colonial bouquet of pink silk roses. Her escort wears formal attire from Schermer's Men's and Boy's Shop. 'Rhett Butler' and 'King George' fashions also were featured for men.

FOCUSING ON THE BRIDE. Lynette Lybarger shows the 'total look' for brides to a captive audience at the party for engaged girls. Re-embroidered Venice lace appliques enhance the gown which features a deep accordin pleated flounce at the hem, high neckline and full sleeves gathered to wide cuffs at the wrists. The cost—only slightly more than $110, including the long flowing veil of illusion.

BRIGHT AS A SUMMER DAY in their pretty wide-brimmed picture hats are the bridesmaids models, preceded by tiny flower girl, Robyn Stout. The attendants, from front to rear, are Lynette Lybarger, Venus Durr and Marilyn Reed, whose frocks are made with kelly green, pink and gold skirts, snugly fitted lace bodices and long tight sleeves. Lace trimming forms a yoke effect on the bodice and caps the shoulder line.

FLOUNCES AT THE HEMLINE of a pale blue chiffon skirt and a fitted white bodice with sheer sleeves was one of the bridesmaids' styles worn by Kathryn Goclen for Marilyn's House of Fashions. The frock retails for about $50 and is available in 22 colors and in all sizes.

DEMURE APRON EFFECT is created with a Chantilly lace overskirt modeled by Pat Mueller, whose gown also features a long train, edged in lace filigree. A short bouffant veil is attached to a lace half-hat.

PRECIOUS MEMORIES, captured on film and preserved forever, are an important part of any bride's pre-wedding preparation. Albums of earlier wedding parties are inspected by right, Miss Lois McQuinney, Miss Janet Schmidt, Mrs. Bonita Boyd and her daughter, Miss Marilyn Boyd, at the Welcome Wagon party.

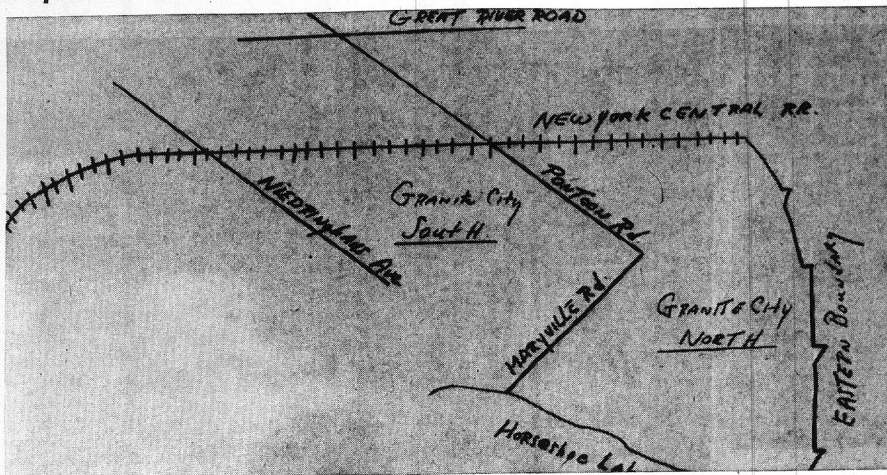

MOTHER OF THE BRIDE fashions included this full-length pink crepe, accented with lace sleeves and a roll collar, worn by Mrs. Ruby Rhine. The straight slim skirt features a deep slit at the back and easily may be shortened to street-length style after the wedding. Full-length coat-dress ensembles and shorter versions were shown by Marilyn's House of Fashions.

KEEN INTEREST in the latest bridal creations and other accoutrements pertaining to the wedding day is displayed by brides-to-be and their mothers at the Welcome Wagon reception and style show, staged at the Croatian Home, 1000 Madison Ave., Madison. More than 175 persons who attended the affair heard Mrs. Joanna Spencer of the host firm describe services and products available from 19 local Welcome Wagon sponsors.

Proposed New Boundary Lines for Granite City Schools

Federal Savings, Loans Authorized To Have Branches

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board said Friday it will allow federally-chartered savings and loan associations in Illinois to establish full branches.

Each of 200 associations — their total assets are $10 billion — will be limited to a single branch within 100 miles of its home office, effective Jan. 31.

There were protests from state-chartered savings and loan associations, which can "branch" only in shifts of their headquarters, from declining inner city neighborhoods or in mergers salvaging firms with supervisory problems. These 300 firms have $7 billion in assets.

Illinois Savings and Loan Commissioner John H. Lanigan said, "I'm going to meet with the Illinois attorney general to see whether we can file suit and stop the federal action."

"The ruling is a clear violation of states' rights because it will permit the federal savings and loans to grab all the prime locations from those with state charters."

He said legislation is being drafted to permit state savings firms to open single branches, but "the earliest this could be passed would be late summer, which gives the federal institutions a big head start."

Testimony Differs in Trial of Gov. Kerner

Former Illinois Racing Board Chairman William S. Miller testified Friday that race track owner Mrs. Marjorie Everett lied on the witness stand and "wanted Isaacs on her string as long as he was in with Kerner." Both are witnesses in the race track fraud trial of former Gov. Otto Kerner and former Illinois Revenue Director Theodore Isaacs.

The two defendants are accused of conspiring with Miller to secretly obtain stock from Mrs. Everett and to do favors for her tracks in return.

Mrs. Everett had testified the stock transactions and she agreed only because of fear that could ruin her financially if she refused.

Miller continued verbal sparring with Kerner's defense attorney, Paul Conolly, as the latter sought to show the racing board chairman had taken control of the Baltimore Jockey Club and Chicago Harness Racing Association through stock transfer.

Program on 'Indians' For Webster Parents

Mrs. Dorothy Trower, chairman of the Multiple Sclerosis drive during March, was guest speaker at the Webster School PTA January meeting last week. Plans were made for a Founders' Day observance next month.

President Gene Gunderson gave the welcoming address and Boy Scout Troop 20, under the direction of Assistant Scoutmaster John Chapline, presented the colors and led the unit in the pledge of allegiance.

The Lord's prayer was given in unison and Principal Clyde Lee supervised a room count. Mrs. Dorothy Frohardt's third grade class won an award for the highest percentage of parents in attendance.

Gunderson presided at a business session and reports were given by the secretary, Mrs. Lois Gunderson, and treasurer, Guy Cooper.

Gunderson announced that next month's meeting will be held on Feb. 19 due to the Lincoln holiday. Mrs. Mae Lee will direct the annual founders' program.

It was decided to purchase past president pins and Mrs. Barbara Schwertmann welcomed Gunderson into the scouting program, presenting him with a pin on behalf of Pack 20. Mrs. Schwertmann, den leader coach, presented the PTA with a certificate of appreciation for continued sponsorship of the cubs and boy scouts.

Dens One, Two, Three, Four and Five and the Webelos den presented a musical program on "Indians." Assisting the boys were Mrs. Schwertmann, den mother of Den One, Mrs. Wanda Rody, Den Five, and Erwin Stengel, Webelos leader. The cubs marched in singing "Ten Little Indians" and played various instruments, such as tom-toms, shakers and rubbing sticks which they made as part of a monthly theme project. The cubs took part in a "war" dance around a totem pole as they sang "Chief Tiki Totem," "Indians Are High Minded" and "Pow Wow."

Gunderson introduced Mrs. Trower, who has been a victim of multiple sclerosis for 25 years. She talked on capabilities and limitations with the disease, noting that each victim responds differently to the ailment and that it usually strikes between the ages of 20 and 40.

Mrs. Trower requested volunteers to assist with a drive in March.

Preceding Mrs. Trower's talk, a film entitled "My Friend Joe" was shown, narrated by actor James Stewart.

Refreshments were served in the cafeteria by the hospitality chairmen, Mrs. Donna Jones, Mrs. Schwertmann and Mrs. Rody.

The serving table held two large sheetcakes, decorated in the scout and cub colors and adorned with miniature ceramic figurines of cubs and boy scouts.

The executive board will meet at the school Feb. 5 at 7:30 p.m. and a general PTA unit meeting is set for Feb. 19 at 7:15 p.m.

Survivor Will Tell of Horror of Nazi Camps

Leo Wolf, president of the L. Wolf Company, general contracting firm at 1733 Cleveland Blvd., will speak at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at Temple B'nai El, 11411 Highway 40 (north access road, west of Spode Road), St. Louis, as a survivor of Nazi concentration camps in World War II.

The program is part of a series of talks and exhibits on "The Holocaust and Resistance."

Sessions are scheduled for tomorrow through Thursday at the St. Louis University Busch Memorial Center, Friday through Jan. 29 at Temple B'nai El and Jan. 30 through Feb. 4 at the Washington University Women's Building.

Now 50 and an American since 1949, Wolf was 17 in the fall of 1939 when Hitler invaded Poland and began wholesale enslavement and slaughter of the 3,250,000 Polish Jews.

He was transported from the city of Lodz to a forced labor camp and has never learned what happened to his parents and sisters.

During six years of confinement at Dachau and 12 other concentration camps, his weight dropped from 180 to 66 pounds and his back was broken from being hit with a rifle and kicked with a boot, reducing his height from 5-6 to 5-3. He now weighs 138 pounds.

Builder of many Quad-City residences and Creve buildings, Wolf resides in Creve Coeur with his wife, Sara, and their three sons.

He has not returned to Poland or Germany but is one of the survivors who placed a "memorial shrine to the Jewish holocaust" on the Hill of Remembrance in Jerusalem.

He came within one minute of being executed in a gas chamber and also had narrow escapes from murder ovens and machine guns, later being lined up to be shot six times but escaping each time by running.

Wolf was one of only 180 survivors of the 3,500 who were marched from Dachau as the U. S. army approached. He eventually fled and was rescued by the Seventh Army.
